

We are hiring an R&D manager for the development of innovative technology in the field of scaffolds for tissue regeneration

Responsibilities

- Leading the R&D team and activities for the development of the company products and pipeline.
- Responsibility for the manufacturing of clinical batches in clean room under QA/RA requirements.
- Work closely with Regulatory Affairs in offering all necessary data / input for regulatory submissions for CE mark and FDA.
- Work closely with QA to issue medical device ISO 13485.

Requirements

- Ph.D. in biomedical engineering, chemistry, or a related scientific discipline is required.
- Preferably experience and knowledge on biomedical materials and polymers including their characterization and processing
- Preferably experience and knowledge with recombinant proteins production, purification and characterization.
- Leadership and managerial experience with multidisciplinary team and external sub-contractors.
- Experience and knowledge in working with international medical device regulatory requirements, documentation, and quality processes.

info@biochange.life

www.biochange.life