

Scientists for ALEPH FARMS

Aleph Farms, a leading company in the field of cultivated meat, is expanding and looking for PhD scientists and MSc scientists for full time positions for Rehovot site.

Candidates must be team players with excellent qualifications and demonstrated experience in stem cells / tissue development / metabolism /development of myotube and adipocytes / cultivated meat

Position Responsibilities:

- * Independently design, implement and take innovative approaches to conduct critical experiments that results in achieving time-sensitive project goals.
- * Demonstrate technical proficiency in molecular, biochemical and cellular assays involving various detection methods.
- * Utilize literature information as well as the technical experience to troubleshoot assays.
- * Perform routine and complex tasks with diligent attention to detail and high level of accuracy.
- * Accurately document, critically analyze/interpret data and communicate the results promptly.
- * Understand and adhere to corporate standards regarding code of conduct as well as follow guidelines and lab policies to help create a safe, effective and efficient working environment.
- * Write protocols and operating procedures for staff training.

For more information and to apply contact: ada.gutgold@aleph-farms.com