

Project Manager/ Researcher – Product Development

Betalin Therapeutics is a start-up company based in Jerusalem. Betalin is developing an engineered micro pancreas, which comprises of a micro organ matrix-scaffold and human islets containing beta cells which produce insulin. The insulin producing micro-pancreas is designed to reduce insulin dependency in diabetic patients, providing a cure to insulin-dependent diabetics and an improvement to their quality of life.

Job role

You will be responsible for product development and process development to help reach the regulatory standards and clinical market.

Qualifications

MSc or Ph.D. in the biological sciences with hands-on experience in cellular and molecular biology methodologies

Key Responsibilities:

- Optimize and characterize product manufacturing and shipment
- making improvements or modifications to current processes
- Design and execute experiments
- Interpret experimental results

Job Requirements:

- Previous experience of at least 5 year in a wet lab work
- Previous industry experience -Must
- problem-solving skills, analytical skills and attention to detail
- Previous experience with product development
- Previous experience in cell therapy-an advantage
- Ability to work in a team and in a results-driven environment.
- Good oral and written communication skills in English.
- Ability to manage time effectively, respond quickly to changes, managing priorities, and adapt within a fast-paced environment.
- Demonstrate ability to write (protocols, reports)

Full time job

Job Location- Jerusalem

Immediate enrolment

Please send your CV to: tehila@betalintherapeutics.com