

Position: V&V Engineer

Eitan Medical is a fast-growing global medical device company, developing and manufacturing innovative drug delivery and infusion solutions across the continuum of care- from the hospital to the home. We are looking for an excellent V&V Engineer to join the R&D team.

Job Description:

- Design and implement experiments for various projects
- Lead verification and validation efforts for new products and components
- Writing protocols, reports and maintaining V&V activates
- Document experiments/testing methodically including result summary, analysis, and interpretation
- Participate in departmental tasks that include problem solving and critical/root cause analysis

Job Requirements:

- Education: BSc. Biomedical/Mechanics/Biotechnology/Materials Engineering
- Job skills:
 - Experience of 2-4 years in the medical device industry – advantage
 - Proven analytical, problem-solving, and troubleshooting skills
 - Experience with testing of HW, SW and mechanical sub-systems – an advantage
 - Experience with mechanical, sterilization, shelf-life and biocompatibility testing – an advantage
 - Prior work in a regulated environment, following development standards and processes – an advantage
- Computer skills:
 - Full control of all MS-Office applications
- Language skills: Fluent English – written and spoken.
- Personality:
 - Friendly, motivated, meticulous, analytical mind, creative, expressive, excellent organizational skills

The position does not include remote work and requires 100% availability to Eitan Medical headquarters located in Netanya

We are hiring!