

Position: Research Engineer

Eitan Medical is a fast-growing global medical device company, developing and manufacturing innovative drug delivery and infusion solutions across the continuum of care- from the hospital to the home. We are looking for an excellent Research Engineer to join the team.

Job Description:

- Lead novel research in state-of-the-art technologies - bypass technological borders
- Lead departmental tasks that include problem solving and critical/root cause analysis
- Responsible for research and development of new methods, and relay scientific information to customers.
- Algorithms development for various system components
- Design and implementation of experiments for various projects

Direct reporting to: Research team leader

Position requirements

- Education: M.Sc. in Physics or bio-medical engineering, PhD— an advantage
- Job Skills:
 - Proven research abilities
 - Excellent English writing and verbal skills
 - Knowledge in Statistics
 - Knowledge in programming
 - Knowledge in signal processing - advantage
- Language skills: Fluency in English
- Personality:
 - Team player
 - Motivated and creative, ability to “think outside the box”
 - Hard worker
 - Independent researcher
 - Full of curiosity

The position does not include remote work and requires 100% availability to Eitan Medical headquarters located in Netanya

We are hiring!