

R&D Director

Reports to VP Technology & Operations

Responsibilities

Managing product design and development activities throughout product life cycle from concept to industrialization

Manage, lead and mentor R&D team of mechanical engineers

Explore and implement new technologies and processes in current and future products

Develop product specifications. conduct characterization tests, Lead verification tests

Provide technical support to Engineering, QA / RA, and Clinical departments

Supporting the V&V process and activities

Conduct and lead failure investigation analysis during development phase

Manage and coordinate activities with subcontractors and suppliers

Requirements

At least Bachelor's Degree in mechanical / biomedical engineering

At least 6 years' experience in medical device field or equivalent

At least 2 years managerial experience of at least 2 engineers

Proven experience as technical lead on risk management of medical devices

Managed R&D projects and resources per planning

Ability to apply knowledge and provide imaginative solutions to difficult problems.

Proficiency with Solidworks

Excellent English level

michal@insighthr.co.il