Job Description - Research and Development Engineer

Company: Sofwave Medical LTD https://sofwave.com/
Location: Yokneam high-tech park, Israel
Scope: Full time
Reporting to: CTO

Job Description

Sofwave Medical is looking to hire a research and development engineer, experienced in medical device development.

- Taking part in research and development of features in the existing and future product
- Planning experiments and experimental systems, conducting experiments, data analysis and reporting
- Data analysis of experimental data and operational data of the company products in the field
- Validation support for the company products
- Planning and leading lab and preclinical experiments in animal and tissues

Requirements
- Engineering diploma from one of the recognized academic institutes
- At least one year of working experience in the industry as a research and development engineer of medical devices
- At least one year of experience working in the industry with electronic medical devices
- Ability to do independent work, leading and pushing forward projects and tasks
- Knowledge and experience in MATLAB

Advantage
- Immediate availability to start
- Experience with systems in the field of aesthetics and/or skin treatments
- Experience and knowledge in ultrasound technology
- Good technical and mechanical abilities in building mechanical and/or electronic systems
- Experience in clinical and/or pre-clinical work

Those interested in the position, and fitting the position requirements, should send CV's to careers-rnd@sofwave.com with the title: "R&D Engineer 11-2022" or preferably register here: https://www.linkedin.com/jobs/view/3347790576