

COO

The COO will be a key member of the senior management team, reporting directly to the CEO.

Responsibilities

Designing and implementing highly effective operational plan to meet regulatory and market requirements

Leading a multidisciplinary team that includes engineers and other functions from R&D, production, QA, RA, and operations

Responsible for translating business milestones into operational activities

Developing the Company's processes and systems to meet ISO 13485 requirements

Managing subcontractors and manufacturers and leading turn key and out-sourced projects

Leading the engineering process including transferring new products from engineering to manufacturing

Overseeing the logistic activity including warehousing and assembly in clean rooms

Preparing the operations for CE and FDA submissions

Part of the management team

Requirements:

Bachelor's degree in Engineering – a must 8+ years of related manufacturing / operational hands- on experience within the medical device industry – a must

Experience in the cardiology field

Experience in transitioning from a prototype to a marketed product

Prior experience in an operational role

Excellent interpersonal and communication skills

Send your CV to:

michal@insighthr.co.il