

Development Engineer (Graduate) - Job Description:

Nurami Medical - a clinical stage medical device company, developing a polymeric implantable biodegradable materials for soft tissue repair, is seeking a highly motivated development engineer. The company is located in downtown Haifa.

Responsibilities:

1. Lead, design and execute studies for the development of new biomedical products made of degradable sealants/adhesives/polymers. Including:
  - A. Production of prototypes and characterizing their morphological, mechanical and chemical properties.
  - B. Reviewing and writing technical\animal studies protocols, reports and scientific papers in English.
  - C. Leading the execution of animal studies performed at CROs (not in the company). Including communication & logistics.
2. Support the production processes in a cleanroom environment.
3. Working according to the company's quality management system. Ability to read and implement standard operating procedures (SOPs).

Requirements:

1. M.Sc. or B.Sc. : Materials\Biomedical\Biotechnology engineering.
2. Work experience in the industry or at an academic lab – an advantage.
3. Knowledge in the field of polymers or medical devices – an advantage.
4. Highly responsible, motivated, accurate, detail-oriented and independent.
5. Creative thinking, hard worker, troubleshooting skills.
6. Ability to lead projects and manage subcontractors.
7. Ability to write high-level reports, protocols, literature search.
8. Excellent reading, writing and verbal communication in English.
9. Please send c.v. to: koby@nurami-medical.com. and specify work availability.