

Graduate students wanted for a project at the intersection of nuclear function / embryonic development and super-resolution microscopy

- Tubular nuclear envelope invaginations are abundant in early zebrafish embryos (and embryos of other species)
- Would you like to find out why ? Contact: freifeld@bm.technion.ac.il

Lamin B