

Medic Vision is looking for a talented Product Manager

Medic Vision, a world-leading provider of medical imaging solutions is expanding. Our CT and MRI products gained world recognition and are used at more than 500 hospitals and imaging centers worldwide.

We are growing fast and looking to add talented key people to our team.

Join our team and take part in a journey that revolutionizes the medical imaging industry.

Job Description:

The Product Manager (PM) has a key role at Medic Vision. The PM assists bringing our company's vision and strategy to life. The PM is responsible for managing the product's lifecycle from design into development through product launch to post implementation.

As the Product manager you will need to

- Understand the products' underlying technology, strengths, and weaknesses
- Analyze and respond to market trends and customers' needs and convert these into product requirements
- Define and help executing product positioning and strategy
- Instruct, train and support the professional services team in installing & maintaining the product

Must-have Experience:

- BSc/MSc in Biomedical engineering, Physics, Electrical Engineering, Computer science or related discipline.
- Minimum 2 years' experience in product management or a related role (e.g. R&D team leader)
- Minimum 2 years' experience in a Medical Device company
- Knowledge and understanding of development processes and documents
- Excellent English (mother-tongue level)

Desired Qualifications:

- Exceptional analytical skills and ability to document and present analysis' results
- Ability to influence stakeholders and work with them to determine acceptable solutions
- High level of comfort with technology and its development
- Excellent planning, organizational, problem-solving, time management, and communication skills
- Takes global view and system-driven approach
- Self-motivated, accountable and quality oriented individual
- Positive team player attitude with excellent communication skills

To apply, send CV to contact@medicvision.com